

Leslie Josel

Keynote Speaker & Award-Winning Productivity Expert

An internationally-respected resource on productivity and procrastination, Leslie Josel is a media favorite; having been featured in Forbes, The Washington Post, The Huffington Post, The Hallmark Channel and many more media outlets, in addition to writing her own weekly “Dear ADHD Family Coach” column for ADDitude Magazine.

With her energy, engaging wit and common-sense approach, Leslie has won over audiences all over the world. Known for her content-rich and interactive presentations, she uses her “Tales from the Trenches” and trademark “Triple T’s” (tips, tools and techniques), to untangle such complex and emotionally-charged subjects as Productivity vs Procrastination, Time (Mis)Management and Maintaining Motivation in an Unfocused World to name a few. Whether making a keynote address, leading a workshop or moderating a panel, participants all come away from Leslie’s appearances with a better understanding of the challenges facing them and a notepad filled with actionable next steps.

Named by Global Gurus as one of the top Time Management Experts in the world five years in a row, Leslie is also the award-winning author of 3 books, including the recently published, How To Do It Now Because It’s Not Going Away: An Expert Guide to Getting Stuff Done.

Most Popular Talks

The Prequel To Productivity: Understanding What Truly Is Getting In YOUR Way

Time is one of our most precious resources, yet we battle daily to make sense of our relationship to it. Leslie will analyze the social, emotional, and intellectual elements that rob us of our productivity and pinpoint key tools towards reframing these roadblocks. In addition, participants will create their own “Personal Productivity Profile” in order to maximize best practices.

How To Do It Now Because It’s Not Going Away: Powering Through Procrastination

Let’s face it. Everyone procrastinates. And while we’re all wired to put things off, we also have the capacity to manage this tendency. In this workshop, Leslie will dive deep into the different types of procrastination, explain how “mood” is one of the leading causes of procrastination, dissect the differences between time management and motivation management, and share how your environment plays an ENORMOUS role in how you get things done.
