

Forsyth County School Awarded First “Annual Tools for Schools” Grant

Mashburn Elementary School selected to receive $5,000 Grant by academic planner company Order Out Of Chaos®

Cumming, Georgia (August 9, 2022) - Today, Order Out of Chaos®, a student-focused company providing hands-on education and custom products for all able learners, announced that Forsyth County’s Mashburn Elementary School has been awarded the first annual “Tools for Schools” Grant in celebration of the ten-year anniversary of Order Out of Chaos’ Academic Planner: A Tool for Time Management®.

To commemorate the first year of the “Tools for Schools” grant program, Order Out Of Chaos® founder Leslie Josel, will present a $5,000 grant to Steve Miller, Mashburn Elementary Principal. Also, in attendance at the ground-breaking ceremony will be various school and public officials. The grant will be used to purchase a sandbox for the school’s skills-based Autism classes.

“Order Out of Chaos® has always been committed to the education of students, parents, and teachers through our customized products and programs. We’re proud to be able to give back to a school that celebrates and fosters individual learning styles among their students,” said Josel. “Every day we hear how crucial the needs of schools are, especially those with special needs programs. We knew that Mashburn would be the perfect recipient of this grant.”

With the newly awarded $5,000, Mashburn Elementary School can fund a new sandbox for their skills-based Autism classes. This resource will allow students grades K-5 to safely dig, play, and express their creativity.

“Our teachers and administration work tirelessly every day to support all our students,” said Steve Miller, Principal of Mashburn Elementary School. “We are so thankful to Order Out of Chaos® for allowing us to continue that commitment, and for providing the necessary funds to ensure that our school remains a fun, and safe learning environment.”
